

ALL OUT FOR JEANNE'S TRIP

The Patriot's Day Dance Committee of the Republican Town Committee is going all-out, in their drive to secure funds for Jeanne Ashworth's Norway Trip.

Jeanne, Top Speed Ice Skater in the U.S. is scheduled to spend six weeks at Hamar, Norway, next winter, in an informal school for speed skaters. Hamar is the so-called Speed Skating Capital of the World.

The costs of the trip are estimated to come to at least $1800, and the Republican Town Committee is hoping to raise $600 as a contribution towards the expenses.

Mrs. Wavie Drew, Chairman of the Republican Town Committee has announced that she will name three trustees for the funds, and that all the profits from the Patriot's Day Dance will be placed in the care of these trustees.

The men, who have not yet been named, are being chosen without regard to party affiliation, Mrs. Drew has stated.

A top notch orchestra has been engaged, Ray Pineau and the Cavaliers, together with a vocalist, Philip Nelson, Chairman of the Patriot's Day Dance Committee has announced. Ticket sales are going well, he stated.

Miss Irene Klements, OL 8 3208, is Chairman of the Ticket Committee.

DEMOCRATS FETE MRS KELLEY

1928 Town Committee

Over 250 were present, in Tonello's Restaurant, in Tewksbury, Tuesday night, to pay honor to Mrs. Elizabeth Kelley of the Wilmington Town Democratic Committee. The restaurant was crowded with friends.

Representative Tom Donohue of Woburn was the Master of Ceremonies. Among those present were Senator Jimmy Long of Woburn, County Commissioner Tom Brennan, and Bob Ready, Assistant to Atty General Edward McCormack.

The principal speaker was Lieutenant Governor Edward McLaughlin.

A beautiful letter was read from Father John Regan, former curate of St. Thomas Church, now a Chaplain in the US Air Force at Chennault AFB, in Louisiana.

The Democratic Town Committee was present in 100% attendance and Mrs. Wavie Drew, Chairman of the Republican Town Committee, and Selectman of Wilmington, together with Selectmen Charles H. Black and Nicholas De Felice were present.

Justice Louis Farley of Framingham, Presiding Justice of the Marlborough Court, and an old friend of the family, was among those present.

Invitation to all Wilmington residents and others who have contributed to the Fund to attend.

Among other items on the agenda for the annual meeting is the election of officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Kelley, with her husband the late Joe Kelley, was a member of the original Wilmington Town Democratic Committee, formed in 1928.

Members of the original Town Committee who were present included Mr and Mrs James Castine of Columbia Street, Deputy US Marshall and Mrs Mike Barry, of Dorchester, and Mrs. Jane Brennan of Cottage St.

Mrs. Kelley never served as Chairman of the Town Democratic Committee, in deference to her husband's wishes, but she was for many years the Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, and has become the Grand Old Lady of Wilmington's Democratic Party.

She has never gained anything but friends as the result of her many years of work on the Democratic Committee, and is one of the most widely respected ladies in the party in Massachusetts.

All of her children were present, Eddie Kelley, of Shawheen Ave., Sgt. Arthur Kelley of the Wilmington Police, Joseph Kelley of Loumac Road and John Kelley of Methuen, and her daughters, Mrs Isabel Farrar of Somerville and Mrs Margaret Sweeney of Framingham.

HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY

Every firm that advertises in the Town Crier can do so with the certainty that their advertisement is placed in a paper that is read, that is always delivered on schedule, and that there is no 'sliding' scale of prices to meet the whims of favorite customers, or to fight opposition papers.

Our paid circulation, 1600 weekly, is a guarantee of readership. During the past five years the paper has always been delivered on schedule, there having been but one exception, on one occasion, when part of one of the eight mail routes in Wilmington had to deliver on Friday - a batting average of 9997.

Unfortunately the people of Wilmington have another 'newspaper' which does not adhere to these high standards. A Wednesday paper, it was twice, during the month of March delivered on Friday and Saturday. It's salesmen have told customers that a figure of over twice as many papers as is printed is their 'circulation'.

We told part of the story last January, and other than verbal threats this 'newspaper' has done nothing. It has lost customers as a result of our January statement, and is therefore in a position to institute suit, were its statements correct - but it dares not to do this.

Instead this paper is now offering to certain customers a price that is between 50% and 60% below the price they offer other customers.

Question: What will the other customers think when they hear of this?

THE MTA EXTENSION

Wilmington residents will do well to keep a wary eye on the proposed extension of the Metropolitan Transit System of Boston to the Town of Reading - or as some reports would have it, to the Town of North Reading.

It won't happen for a couple of years, of course, if it does happen, but if such a thing came to pass Wilmington could expect to have to contribute to the MTA costs as a "fringe" town.

The MTA together with the New York, New Haven & Hartford R.R. are today prime subjects of conversation in Boston, and the fact that both systems are in a crisis make it possible that the legislature might be panicked into a move that it might later regret. It is, of course, too bad that "Buck" Dumaine is no longer president of that railroad, for were he there we would hazard the present problems would never have arisen. But the two problems are facing the legislature, and they might resolve a common answer to our eventual regret.

Wakefield's esteemed paper, the Wakefield Daily Item, in the best newspaper tradition, has been "suspecting the worst" for some months. Today the Item's suspicions are in an even stronger position.

Extending the MTA to Wakefield and Reading will not help those towns. Extending it to No. Reading could well be the ruination of that town. And in either event the Wilmington taxpayer will also have to dig down into his purse.

THE READING TOWN DUMP

Don't get us wrong - we aren't in the business of saying the Wilmington Town Dump is better than that of Reading, or vice-versa. It's just that we hear comparisons, from time to time, and that Reading's dump situation seems to be the winner in these comparisons.

Reading has had, for years, a "burning" dump down near the Wakefield line. Beautified by plantings of trees, it was a source of pride to Reading residents, and to Wilmington residents who were interested in our own dump, a subject of discussion because it cost less than our own "sanitary land-fill" dump.

For Wilmington had got away from the "burning" dump idea. We used to have one that wasn't for burning, up near the North Reading line, but which used to be on fire a good part of each summer anyway. Then we had a "burning" dump which was well cared for, but people kicked anyway. Finally the Board of Health started a "sanitary land-fill" on private property, hoping that the people of Wilmington could become educated to the idea, and would finally consent to a town-operated land-fill, in some of our ever present marshes.

So why all the discussion?

Well, Reading had some trouble with its "burning" dump, trouble over the smoke which drifted down to Route 128. It has just voted to replace the present dump with one of the "sanitary land-fill" type.

WHAT PAPER DO YOU READ?

The Town Crier gets a chuckle from an event that happened two days before the Town Meeting, at a local meeting in the old North School, where the TM was scheduled to deliver one of his talks about the budget.

That was the day, it will be remembered, when the Town Crier took the Holy Budget apart. We showed errors as being presented to the Town Meeting in such things as Available Funds and Estimated Valuation of Real Estate. We have heard the day called Black Thursday, and perhaps that name will do.

There were some forty or fifty people at that meeting, according to accounts given the Town Crier, including a number of the town's Big Wigs. Curiously enough the Sellout Boy Editor of the local Throwaway was present, as was the Current Young Lady who works for the Lowell Paper.

SONNETS

DEAR MONTH

When April comes, who's serious?

The spring makes all delirious;

At least, till tax men query us.

Considering that the Town Hall had been engaged in Project Prove The Town Crier Wrong, all day long, with statisticians manning all Adding Machines, the presence of those two people was probably no accident.

During the course of the evening's discussion someone asked a question. He wanted to know how many of those present read the Town Crier.

Practically everyone raised his hand.

Then the same question was asked about the local Throwaway. This time half a dozen raised their hands, but with some adding a word like "sometimes".

The third question involved the Lowell Paper (which, don't get us wrong, has an ABC circulation, and one doesn't doubt that type of figures - even if there may be some question about readers at the Wilmington-Tewksbury line) How many of those present read the Lowell Sun was the question.

Our informants say two hands were raised - the TM's, and the Current Young Lady.

IT IS OUR COMMUNITY FUND

Next Monday the annual meeting of the Wilmington Community Fund is to be held in the Roman House, on Church Street, starting at 8 pm.

The Wilmington Community Fund belongs to the people of Wilmington. Everyone who donates is automatically a member, and is entitled to vote in the annual meeting.

In a manner of speaking the Community Fund is like the Town itself. Not too many attend the Town Meetings, for various reasons - disinterest, inability because of other commitments, etc. Not too many attend the Community Fund meeting, and for the same reason.

But throughout the years the Wilmington Community Fund has stood ever ready to help those in distress, and to finance the good works of various organizations that work with our youth and our people. It has always been recognized as an eminently sensible arrangement in a town which, because of geographical difficulties has to remain independent in mind and in spirit.

Our citizens should make an effort to attend the annual meeting, next Monday.

THE ANNUAL SCIENCE FAIR

Last week's annual Science Fair was well attended. Visitors saw the work of about sixty youngsters, each working by himself in a project of his own choosing. It was interesting, it was instructive, and it gave a sense of achievement, both to the youngster and to the visitor.

One of the winners of last year's Science Fair went on to win the Westinghouse Science Award, which was quite an honor to the Town of Wilmington's schools. It is practically the ultimate in prize winning, and raises the interesting question - if one can do it, cannot others?

It must be recognized that a lot of work goes into the preparation of the Science Fair, both by the heads of the Science Department in the Wilmington High School, and by the members of the Science Club.

Unfortunately, perhaps, these people do not have the time to devote to such a project - the time necessary to bring the work up to the national level. True, one boy did go on to the national level, but, as the saying goes, one rose does not make a summer.

In the list of the 399 National Winners last year, the great majority had been working on

AUDITOR BUCKLEY AGAIN CITES OLD AGE HOUSE COSTS

State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley was reported, in the Boston Traveler, Monday night, as again citing the costs of Wilmington Housing Project for The Aged, on Dewing Way, as being too costly.

The Traveler article reported him citing the cost of the 40 units as $14,000 each, said cost including the cost of the Recreation Hall which was built at the same time.

Buckley, as reported by the article, went on to say that in other projects the costs had been from $2,500 to $12,000 per unit.

The article hinted that Mr. Buckley is concerned about a state official who had a 'concern' about doors and windows, and another who was similarly concerned about insurance carried by the contractors.

Speaking at the Selectmen's meeting Monday night Selectman Nicholas De Felice regretted that Wilmington's name had been cited in the Traveler story.

The Wilmington Housing Authority is at present undergoing its annual audit, which co-incidence might have been instrumental in bringing the matter of the attention of Mr. Buckley.

A year ago, in his report to the Commonwealth (dated Feb. 29, 1960) Buckley stated that one of the reasons for the high cost of the Wilmington Old Age Project was an order by the State Housing Board, 'over the objections of the local housing authority, issued to the contractor engaged in the construction of the project, a change order of $42,000 to provide a Recreation Center which was subsequently increased by another change order in the additional amount of $14,631.47.

their project, not for a few months, but for several years.

The top winner, a Bronx New York boy (from the well-known Scieince High School) has been working since he was 11, studying the habits of a particular class of pigeons. His work, it goes without saying, was of a truly scientific proportion.

We can recall of another boy, from Baltimore Maryland, who had worked for four years on a collection of fossilized sea-shells. He had 60,000 specimens, all of which he had found himself, and it included many varieties unknown to science.

Obviously, if Wilmington boys and girls are to compete against this type of study there is but one answer.

Taking part in the West School show were Mrs. Dorothy Pigon, Natick, Mrs. Betty Doerfler, Salem Street, Mrs. Jean Lesnick, Lawrence Court, and Mrs. Gail Webster, Dorothy Ave.

READING AREA BUILDING AT SLOWER PACE

By Robert E. Stewart, President Mechanics Savings Bank

North Reading had no activity for January and February 1961 against $118,000 for the corresponding months a year ago. Wilmington showed $50,250 this year for the first two months against $66,500 a year ago. Additions, alterations and repairs have amounted to $9,300 so far in 1961 (against $29,935 for the first two months in 1960) in the town of Reading; North Reading $1,400 ($88,00) and Wilmington $2400 ($21,700) for the same comparable months. TESTING CONTINUES FOR AIR POLICE WORK

Tests currently being administered to local young men seeking duty as Air Policemen in the Air Force are still open, it was announced today.

Air Force recruiting officials have emphasized that only highly qualified applicants will be accepted for police duty. Because of the nature of the work, which many times requires a knowledge of judo and use of special weapons, young men enlisting for Air Police assignment must meet rigid mental, physical and moral standards.

Testing administered locally enables youths to determine if they are qualified for police duty prior to enlistment. By joining the "Minuteman" Flight, scheduled to depart for training on April 19, they are assured of assignment as Air Policemen.

The written examinations are administered every Monday and Thursday at the local Air Force office at 89 Appleton St., Lowell.

DID SOMEONE TRY TO WRECK TRAIN NEAR TOWN PARK?

Wilmington Police are regarding the placing of a heavy cable, on the B&M railroad tracks, Sunday afternoon, as a possible attempt to wreck one of the B&M trains.

The cable, which was first mistaken for a pipe, was spotted by a passing trainman, and reported to the Winchester traffic tower. It lay across the northbound tracks, near the Town Farm bridge (Route 38).

Officers Larry Kelly and James Palmer were sent, at 5:03 pm to remove the cable. Sgt. Ellsworth, of the Wilmington Police has stated that in his opinion it could be the work of misguided children.

"It definitely was placed there", Sgt. Ellsworth said. "It was not something which might have dropped from a passing train".

PARKING COMPLAINTS BY SELECTMEN FOR WILMINGTON SQUARE NEIGHBORHOOD

Three of Wilmington's Selectmen, Monday night, during the Selectmen's meeting, voiced complaints concerning parking in the neighborhood of Wilmington Square.

Selectmen John D. Brooks told the TM that cars, parked all day long on Burlington Avenue, use up the entire sidewalk, and are a menace to both pedestrians and autoists.

Selectman Donald Kidder told the Selectmen that all day parkers on Church Street in front of the NET&T building keep repairmen from completing their emergency tasks, on telephone lines. "They have to double park in order to get in to the building," Kidder told the TM.

Selectman Charles Black added to Kidder's statement an observation that High School children, on their way to school and from school, walk in the street instead of on the sidewalk, and thus add to traffic hazards.

ERNEST CAIL JR. FINALLY GETS A SIGNED PLAN

The efforts of Ernest Cail Jr. of Fairview Avenue to have the Wilmington Planning Board sign a plan of his land, a signature necessary for mortgage purposes, finally paid off last Tuesday evening, when the Planning Board signed the plan with no discussion.

Cail had appeared before the Board of Appeals last June, and had been granted a variance for his property. Unfortunately, the 1960 Town Report listed the case as "Denied".

When Atty Simon Cutter appeared before the Planning Board a month ago for what should have been a routine operation - having the plan signed, the Planning Board had to deny the signature, in spite of the best arguments of Mr. Cutter.

Subsequent investigation revealed the error, and Tuesday night the plan was signed.

Now Mr. Cail can borrow all the money the bank is willing to loan him.

READING HOUSEWIFE GETS ONE YEAR PROBATION

A Reading housewife was put on one year's probation, by Justice Henchey, in the Woburn District Court, last week, after she had faced charges of assault and battery on a police officer.

The police officer was a State Trooper, Arthur Morrison. The lady, who lives near Route 93 had had some occasion to wander down onto the highway one night, about two weeks ago, and was spotted by a passing motorist, who thought she needed help. He flagged down the Trooper, and told him about her.

When Trooper Morrison attempted to assist the lady he was met with a torrent of abuse, and believing her to be ill or deranged he took her to the Choate Memorial hospital. After being discharged from the hospital the court imposed the sentence to prevent a re-occurrence of the event.
